FRANCE.

THE FRENCH COURTS IN MEXICO.

PARIS, July 4.—Evening.

The French Court has been ordered to return to France. The Empress Carlotta leaves here, by Papal steamer, to-morrow, for Rome, en route for Mexico.

[From the New York Times, July 5.]

A special to the Herald dated Paris, July 3d, says the news of the red day of the 1st brought a profound sensation here, but the excitement of the city, in consequence of the report of the Empress Carlotta's military escort reviewed for departure on the 4th, in honor of the Queen of Portugal, has been somewhat allayed by the fête on the 4th.

The subscription for the Fourth in July at Versailles resulted in Paris and visiting governors, on the Continent, for which purpose the Herald has been brought on a close rivalry to the fêtes of Napoleon's Court.

PRUSSIA.

PRUSSIA AND THE CONFEDERATE STATES.

[Special Despatch to the Chicago Tribune.]

QUEBEC, July 5.

A letter is now received from Thurlow Weed, in London, for the DUKE OF NORFOLK, in which he says that Prussia is anxious to recognize the Southern Confederacy and receive the fleets. The question now is whether the deed given by the Duke of Norfolk to the Queen of England, for the latter from the United States, is valid. The Queen thinks it is.

The steamer Gallatia left Port Royal for the Confederate States on the 1st inst. She will probably be captured by a cruiser.

The Confederate Commissioners left Paris for Rome on the 30th ult.

The steamer Hermann, from Bremen, June 19, reports that the steamer M. P. Grover, was wrecked on the Island of Borkum, and that the crew were saved by Captain Grover.

The steamer Bremen was fired into by Prussian officers, and one man killed and another wounded.

A letter to the Herald, from Idaho, June 15, says that Indians have driven off all the stock from Bannock City, leaving residents on the mountains without provisions. Provisions are very scarce in Bannock City, and are selling at 50 cents per pound. Flour, $100 per barrel. Many persons have left the country, and the remainder will probably be compelled to leave.

Advices from Salmon River mines to June 15th, report that the miners were making from $6 to $10 per day.

Gen. Sherman and Admiral Porter have returned to Washington from their visit to the Plains.

Gen. Sheridan has issued an order forbidding the sale of liquor to Indians.

Gen. Hancock has issued an order forbidding the sale of liquor to soldiers.

Gen. Wood arraigned the act as barbarous and inhuman, and declared that he would not be responsible for the consequences of the execution of the sentence of the Provost's court.

Mr. Spence, editor of a resolution of thanks to Gen. Sheridan for his administration of affairs in Louisiana, and in support of the President's policy.

The question on its reception, the House adjourned till Monday.

Nature of the Testimony Taken Yesterday. The Prosecution to Close to-Day.

[Special Despatch to the Chicago Tribune.]

WASHINGTON, July 5.

The Criminal Court-room was well filled to-day, several members of Congress being among the spectators. Mrs. Surratt looked much better than when first arraigned, and was dressed in deep mourning. Miss Surratt, her daughter, looked very well. Payne looked rather more dejected than yesterday, and Atzerodt and Herold were evidently suffering from the heat.

Mr. Pitman, the reporter employed by Judge Holt and Printing, for shorting the proceedings, arrived this morning, and will be employed during the trial. He was detained in Cincinnati by the illness of his wife.

Mr. Wilson, the clerk in Judge Mr. Tyler's office, who was appointed a messenger, is ordered to report for duty.

THE FOURTH OF JULY.

The Celebration in the City—A National Salute.

Processions and Postponements—The Day for Fresh Delight—Twenty Thousand People at Dunn's Park.

Accidents and Incidents—A Quiet Day.

The Fourth of July, 1867, was a notable occasion in the calendar of the United States, and will be remembered by all who have participated in the festivities of the day as a glorious Fourth of July. This fact of itself, however, is not sufficient to make the Fourth of July, 1867, the exception of the day has been generally observed as a holiday, and business has been entirely suspended, and the day has been devoted to pleasure and recreation. Yesterday was a holiday, and business was entirely suspended, and the day has been devoted to pleasure and recreation.

Yesterday last was a welcome exception to the rule. Yesterday was a holiday, and business was entirely suspended, and the day has been devoted to pleasure and recreation. Yesterday was a holiday, and business was entirely suspended, and the day has been devoted to pleasure and recreation.

It only seems strange to those who learned to consider the Fourth of July as a holiday, that it should be observed by the people of the United States as a holiday. It is the anniversary of the day on which the United States declared their independence of the British Crown, and the day on which the United States became a nation. It is the day on which the United States became a nation. It is the day on which the United States became a nation.
